

SAN FRANCISCO ZOOLOGICAL SOCIETY
ANNUAL REPORT 2014-2015

IMMERSE

YOURSELF IN A WORLD OF
EXOTIC AND RARE ANIMALS

THE SOUTH AMERICAN TROPICAL RAINFOREST AND AVIARY
IS OPEN NOW AT THE SAN FRANCISCO ZOO

Dear Friends,

How do you experience the San Francisco Zoo & Gardens?

Do you interact with San Clemente Island goats and Navajo-Churro sheep during the “Barnyard Stampede” at the Fisher Family Children’s Zoo? Do you prefer visiting Big Daddy Bahasa, the rapidly growing Komodo dragon, during our annual evening “Zoo Lights” holiday celebration? Do you enjoy engaging with volunteer docents who share their knowledge and passion for the Zoo’s more than 2,000 exotic, endangered and rescued animals?

This past fiscal year, the San Francisco Zoo connected more than 957,000 visitors to wildlife living in our expansive site next to the Pacific Ocean. Our 100-acre urban oasis attracted the third highest attendance in the San Francisco Zoo & Gardens’ long history.

We couldn’t be more proud.

Connecting with animals inspires caring for nature and advances conservation of our planet. This connection does not begin and end at the entrance to the Zoo. The San Francisco Zoo & Gardens has stepped up outreach on several levels. For example:

- Through our mobile “living classroom” Zoomobile, education staff bring animals including a baby alligator, chinchilla and great horned owl to 430 classrooms and 10,890 students for close-up encounters and grade-appropriate science lessons.
- Collaborating with conservation organizations such as the Snow Leopard Conservancy, Red Panda Network and International Rhino Foundation raises awareness and money for endangered species protection.
- Social media posts on Facebook, Instagram and Twitter reach thousands of followers with animal updates and photos along with interesting, educational facts.

Over the course of a year, the San Francisco Zoo & Gardens experiences numerous milestones, events and stories. In the following pages, we share highlights through images taken by dedicated volunteer photographers Marianne Hale and May Woon.

We hope this report inspires you to visit soon and get face-to-face with leaping red ruffed lemurs, African zebras or even a black-widow spider.

Just as importantly, we hope the animals inspire you to protect them now and in the future.

Sincerely,

Tanya M. Peterson
President & Executive Director

Robert Pedrero
Chair, Board of Directors

SAN FRANCISCO ZOO

July 1, 2014 - June 30, 2015

At the San Francisco Zoo, it's our mission to connect people with wildlife, inspire caring for nature, and advance conservation action.

MEET THE NEW WOLVERINES

Kiwi, one of two rare North American wolverines, captivates guests with her energetic and feisty play.

MARCH OF THE PENGUINS

Four Magellenic penguin chicks graduate from "Fish School" and reunite with their colony on Penguin Island in this annual rite of passage.

AUGUST

Early morning rides attract hundreds of bike enthusiasts for monthly 1-1/2 hour behind-the-scenes tours.

FAMILY BIKE-ABOUT

GROUND BREAKING

Zoo Board Chair Robert Pedrero, Koret Foundation CEO Jeffrey Farber, and Zoo President & Executive Director Tanya Peterson break ground for the newly renovated South American Tropical Rainforest & Aviary, home to free-flying birds, mammals and the Zoo's first significant reptile and amphibian collection.

ZOO CAMP

1,750 K-7th grade students attend our popular Zoo Camps now in their 34th year. Students experience animals up-close, learn how they live and what we can do to save them.

GIRAFFE BIRTH

Celebrating Bobby, our 100-pound, 5'6" baby giraffe, born on August 26 to 11-year-old mom, Bititi.

NATURE TRAIL

Mentored by Koret Animal Resource Center staff, 80 junior zoologists share their knowledge and love of animals with visitors throughout the summer.

SEPTEMBER

HONORING MILITARY VETERANS

More than 440 U.S. veterans enjoy complimentary lunch and free admission on September 17 as well as free admission during Fleet Week.

TICKLED PINK

The first Chilean flamingo chicks born since 2010 attract flocks of visitors dressed in pink to celebrate their birth.

OCTOBER

WELLNESS CENTER

Students design animal enrichment projects in an intensive two-week collaborative class conducted jointly with Stanford University's "Sophomore College" summer program.

2 RARE BIRTHS: KUDU BONGO

Meet Madison, greater kudu female calf born to mom Portia. Kudus are among the tallest African hoofstock.

Female bongo Pence born to Betty Jean, critically endangered African antelope species.

DECEMBER

FRANÇOIS LANGUR

Curry, male infant François langur, born to first-time parents, Jing-Jing and Isaac.

Nearly 19,000 people experience this annual holiday light spectacle, while they visit giraffes, koalas and Komodo dragon as well as Santa's reindeer during special evening hours.

ZOO LIGHTS

PANDA-MONIUM

Female red panda Hillary, 13, joins two-year-old male Tenzing, attracting visitors with their delightful play and irresistible good looks.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

Annual fundraising luncheon at Neiman-Marcus Rotunda on October 15 showcases ladies' elaborate hats while raising $66,000 for the Zoo.

BOO AT THE ZOO

Jesse, one of three resident mandrills, relishes seasonal pumpkin enrichment treat, part of our Halloween celebration featuring kids in costume, craft-making and the "Haunted Nature Trail."

NOVEMBER

FUR BALL 2014

Cultivating wildlife connection: 300 young professionals raise $47,000, experience exotic animals and dance the night away at November 7 signature fundraiser.

ZOOMOBILE

From September 2014 through mid-June 2015, animal education staff visit 430 classrooms, providing 10,890 students up-close, hands-on experience with animals while connecting kids with the wonders of nature.

Corporations such as Salesforce and Survey Monkey engage in Zoo beautification projects, foster team building and receive free admission.

RENEW THE ZOO

FEBRUARY

New baby South American howler monkey born on March 18, 2015.

HOWLER MONKEY BIRTH

More than 1,000 San Francisco public school students participate in ninth annual educational contest. Zoo honors 183 students with awards luncheon, animal encounters and docent tour.

WILD ABOUT ART & SCIENCE

JANUARY

GHURKA COMES HOME

Ghurka, a 14-year-old male snow leopard, returns from Cleveland Metroparks Zoo to his place of birth.

Twelve-year-old African lion Jahari receives a full medical workup including repair of a chipped tooth. Trained to participate in his own health care, the 540-pound male allows staff to collect blood panels from his tail and inject his paw with anesthetic drugs.

JAHARI WELLNESS EXAM

FREE DAYS

More than 105,000 visitors including 17,000 San Francisco students receive free admission through monthly "SF Resident Free Days" and other special promotions.

ZOOPTOPIA

The Bernard Osher Great Hall morphs into a Cuban Casino for February 27 Zootopia 2015. Supporters learn to play poker, blackjack and roulette and raise $30,000.

MARCH

LUNAR NEW YEAR

Chinese acrobats and lion dancers celebrate the "Year of the Goat." Visitors can "Adopt a Goat" and bring good luck.

PREHISTORIC GARDEN

One of the Zoo's seven gardens, this latest landscape reveals ancient plant varieties such as mosses, gunnera and ferns that have survived millions of years.

SCULPTURE LEARNING PLAZA

Working with government and conservation partners, animal wellness staff raise 34 critically-imperiled frogs and re-introduce them to wild after vaccinating against disease-causing pathogen.

Paying tribute to World Series Champion San Francisco Giants and ZooFest Chairs Elizabeth and Stephen Revetria, "Celebrating Champions" draws 400 guests and raises more than $1.6 million.

Wellness Team raises $15,000 through crowd-funding and builds 3-foot, 50-pound Foobler® toy for rhinos Boone and Gauhati. Foobler challenges rhinos to forage food, stimulating animals' health and well-being.

Guests feel animal skin textures, explore planet biodiversity and discover new species at Sculpture Learning Plaza, accessible to physically and developmentally disabled guests.

YELLOW-LEGGED FROGS

ZOO FEST

RHINO BALL PROJECT

BIODIVERSITY MATTERS

MAY

Celebrating five years of sustainable gardening on Earth Day 2015, Greenie's 4,000-square-foot "Conservation Corner" features bee hives, solar-powered fountain, wind generator, rain harvesting system and vegetable garden growing food for animals.

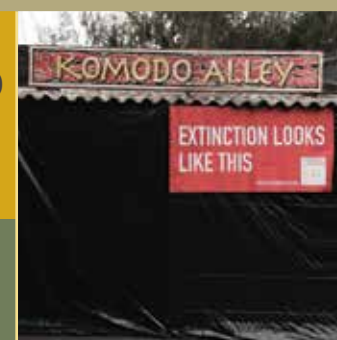

GREENIE'S 5TH BIRTHDAY

MOTHER'S DAY

San Francisco Chronicle features mama giraffe Barbro and calf Sarah in photo spread promoting "Top Events for Mother's Day May 3," highlighting free admission for moms.

ENDANGERED SPECIES DAY

In partnership with Association of Zoos and Aquariums, Education staff highlight 50 resident "vulnerable," "endangered" or "critically endangered" species and communicate urgency of saving animals from extinction.

KIDS FEST

Connecting the next generation with wildlife while inspiring conservation, KidsFest 2015 draws more than 470 guests and features live music, dancing, magic shows and more plus private access to the Elinor Friend Playground.

SENIOR STROLL

Senior adults enjoy private, guided walking tour before public opening. Quarterly opportunity to observe early-rising animals and learn fascinating animal behavior insights.

The San Francisco Zoological Society is in the last phase of its successful Americas Campaign, an intensive, multi-year fundraising drive, which seeks to to improve the South and North American regions of the Zoo as well as its Youth Exploration Zone. Specifically, the projects of the Americas Campaign include:

Sculpture Learning Plaza (June 2015) features realistic figures of rare species, accessible to all people who will experience the wonders of nature through art;

Gray Wolf Exhibit: This exhibit will convert the Zoo's aging bear grottos into a vibrant habitat for the threatened wolves of North, Central and South America. Its first inhabitants will include the endangered Mexican Gray Wolf and is due to open in late 2016.

The San Francisco Zoological Society gratefully acknowledges the following lead donors (gifts of $100,000 or more) for their generous support of the Americas Campaign:
